PSC Chairperson Dan Ebert to Visit Beloit Memorial Hospital

Hospital sets example for the state in energy efficiency efforts

Tomorrow, Public Service Commission Chairperson Dan Ebert will tour Beloit Memorial Hospital to experience first-hand how their innovative energy efficiency efforts have helped keep customer costs as low as possible. The tour will focus on three projects at the hospital: a distributive co-generation facility, a heat recovery system and water boiler upgrades.

Chairperson Ebert will also discuss how Wisconsin Act 141, the most sweeping energy policy in Wisconsin's history, will help the state be more energy independent. The Energy Efficiency and Renewables Act focuses on three areas: increasing the use of renewable energy, promoting the development of renewable energy technologies, and strengthening the state's energy efficiency programs.

Beloit Memorial Hospital is a pioneer in energy efficiency efforts and sets a great example for how Wisconsin can become a leader through Act 141.
